1. Introduction

1.1 The Health and Safety at Work Act, etc., 1974 and associated regulations place overall responsibility for health and safety with the employer. The type of school will determine who the employer is, i.e.: -

- in community and voluntary controlled schools the statutory responsibility for health and safety remains with the Local Authority
- in “academy” schools the employer is the governing body, therefore they must have their own written health and safety policy. This should refer to Gateshead Council’s policy and procedures where appropriate.

The employer has duties to ensure so far as is reasonably practicable:

- the health, safety and welfare of all employees
- the health and safety of pupils both in school and on off-site activities
- the health and safety of visitors, volunteers and other non-employees involved with the school

1.2 Overall responsibility for the day-to-day management of all health and safety in schools rest with the head teacher. They are responsible for implementing the Council’s Corporate policies, procedures, the Children’s Social Care and Lifelong Learning H&S Policy and Education H&S Policy and procedures. A system must be in place in every school to ensure that the policies and procedures are implemented and monitored.

1.3 It is the duty of the governing body (if they are the employer) or head teacher to ensure that their school has their own current health and safety policy, (a model policy for schools is available EDU-MOD-01). This model should be customised to reflect the individual circumstances of the school. However, it is important that any policy prepared by the school is consistent with the Corporate H&S Policy and the Children’s Social Care and Lifelong Learning H&S Policy and arrangements to ensure no ambiguity occurs with regard to responsibilities. Within the school policy there should be reference made to these policies.

1.4 The head teacher may choose to delegate certain tasks to other members of staff, such as a School Business Manager. However, the delegation of certain duties will not relieve the head teacher from overall responsibilities for health and safety within the school.

2. Related Information

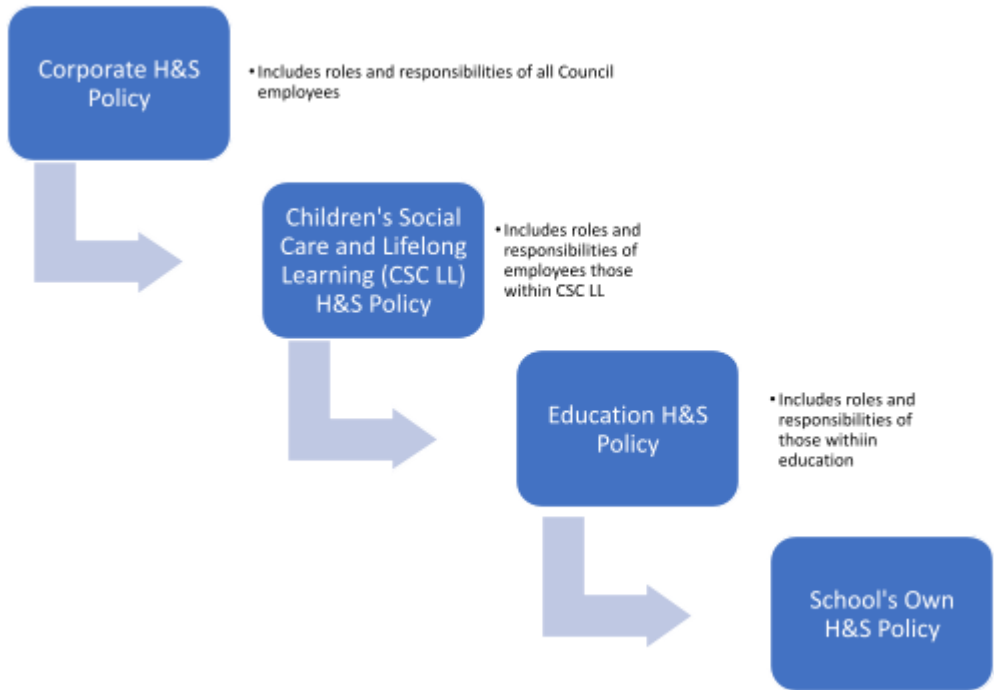

2 Corporate Health and Safety Policy

- 2.1 The Health and Safety at Work Act, etc., 1974, requires the employer to prepare and keep an up-to-date written health and safety policy, supported by information on the organisation and arrangements for carrying out the policy. The safety policy must be brought to the notice of all employees. The Council's Corporate Health and Safety Policy highlights the health and safety responsibilities of all employees and outlines the Council's intention to fulfil its legal obligations. Additional procedural guidance and a copy of the Corporate Health and Safety Policy and general safety arrangements can be found on the Council Intranet or in the Health and Safety Section of the Services for Schools North East webpage.
- 2.2 The Children's Social Care and Lifelong Learning H&S Policy helps to demonstrate to employees where their role within their group lies.
- 2.2 Head teachers/governors must manage health and safety in the same way that they manage other issues by implementing the policies, procedures and arrangements agreed and monitored by the council. Staff at all levels in the school must understand their health and safety role. The head teacher is required to take all necessary and appropriate action to ensure that the requirements of the councils Corporate H&S Policy; the Children's Social Care and Lifelong Learning H&S Policy and the school's own health and safety policies are met in full at all times. EDU-MOD-01 Model H&S Policy.
- 2.3 The Council cannot fulfil its statutory duty unless it monitors how schools are complying with Corporate and Education Policies. The Council's Health and Safety Officers will monitor this to ensure required standards are reached and take action where they are not.

3. Health & Safety Executive (HSE)
